

Calling someone on Face time By Ethan Osterhage

Open the face time

app.

When you get into the

app it should look like this:

and when you call someone the app should become thin and you should only see this:

And when the other person answers it should show up like this:

you can end the call at anytime by touching end.